TO THE BEAUTIFIERS OF THE COMPLEXION.

JURPRISING EFFICACY. My Eau Divino Ole Venus and Nymph Soap, composed of an eastern botanical discovery of surprising efficacy for rendering the skin soft and fair, as well as imparting a delicate roseate hue to the complexion.

As a creator and conservator of that most distinguishing charm of female leveliness, a transparent fair skin, Jules Hauel's Nymph Soap, or Eau Divine de Venus, may be said to exert an almost magical influence. Composed for the most part of oriental balsamic plants, to the utter exclusion of all mineral admixture, it is distinguished medically, for its extremely bland, purifying and soothing action on the skin; and by acting on the pores and minute secretory vessels, expells all impurities from the surface, allays every tendancy to inflamation, and, by this method alone, effectually dissipates all redness, tan, pimples freekles, sunburn, and other than any most policy. The contained in the case system, and at exceedingly low prices, we think we can afford to sell a little cheaper than any other similar establishment in the State, without exception. Among them may be found English, while on the neck, hands, and arms, it bestows a elicacy and fairness which its continued use will happily protect, with every appearance of youthful charm to the most advanced period of life.

Highly Important to Persons using Spectacles.

THIS simple but very useful optical instrument I becomes in the hands of a scientific Optician, the means of not only giving clear vision to a defective eye, but also to improve and preserve the same to the oldest possible age, by a proper appliinstructions given in the art.

Ro oms—In Vose's Washington House, No. 1, flavs, should always be applied with such a degree of convexity or concavity, precisely as the defect of vision requires, not more nor less, or else the result will be a faster decline of vision, and by the accommodation of the eye to an improper focus, will finally terminate in a total inability of reading, writing or sewing, in the prime of life.— Persons not nequainted with optical principles, should never select spectacles without the advice of a skillful Optician, as the eye, this great maserpiece of divine mechanism, is a delicate organ, requiring their greatest attention.

The subscriber has taken a room in Vose's Washinhton House, at the head of Beach road, where he may be consulted for a short time. All ersons desirous of obtaining superior glasses, itted exactly to their eyes upon the first examina-tion, will do well to call. His selection of Spectactes and Eye-glasses is very large, and his mode of applying glasses to suit the eye, will convince the visitor at once that he has trusted his most valuable crean into those hands to whom the same of right belongs.

He also recommends his Terrestrial Telescopes which are achromatic, as first-rate instruments The apportunity offered by the subscriber is rare, and it is hoped will be embraced by the citizens and the visitors of this place, at once.

July 13 6w A MAN WITH A WOODEN LEG. Before you had those timber toes

Your love I did allow, But then you know you stand upon Another footing now.

I am one of those unfortunate wights who have found themselves obliged to call in the carpenter for the purpose of mending their mortal frame. I was born complete, as sound as a pumpkin, and with a pair of as sturdy nether limbs as ever kicked. I stamped about merrily on both of them in my youth, never dreaming that I should one day be indebted for the same peripatetical faculty to a stick of wood. .

During the last war with Great Britain, I served in our army on the frontier. I was in many battles, but managed throughout nearly the whole of the conflict to keep lead and cold iron out of me. I began to think myself bullet proof; but never was a conjuror more mistaken, as I soon found out at the battle of Plattsburgh, by the help of a cannon ball which took my leg just below the knee. This happened in the commencement of the action, and I fell into the encmy's hands. We got the victory at last, as is well known, and when the British retreated, I was carried off by them along with some of their wounded. I: was duly reported by the American returns 'among the missing,' and my friends all imagined me dead.

After lying some time in the British hospitals, I was sent to Montreal, where I met with a very ingenious French machinist, who fitted me with a new limb so admirably constructed with springs and hinges, that, after a short practice, I found myself able to manage it with so much dexterity that it passed with the world for bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh. I was sent home to Boston after the peace, and received by my friends as one from the dead .--They little imagined on seeing me sale and hearty, that I had one foot in the grave.

Now, though I might have claimed and received a pension for the loss of my leg, vet I recolated to keep the matter secret; the credit of owning a pair, of real stumpers. No mortal of my acquaintance suspected that I had a sham leg, and I was resolved to take no pains to divulge the secret, but if I got a kick upon my wooden shin, even to scratch where it did not smart.

The pertinacity with which I stuck to this determination has led me into the oddest adventures; I was kicked by a horse on my fictitions limb, and to the astonishment of everyhody, walked home after it, without so much inconvenience as a sprained ancle. I was bitten by a mad-dog, most furiously in the same place, and:every one prophesical that I should die, but I got well of the bite, and amazed them all. A cart wheel ron over my foot, and jammed it into a cocked hat; no one but admired the fortitude with which I bore the pain.

Walking home one cold day with the doctor, I stopped with my leg mid-deep in a puddle of water. The doctor was confident I should take cold in consequence of it, and I won a wager of him by not coming off hoarse the next morning to his utter astonishment.

But this unfeeling limb of mine has sometimes brought me into awkward scrapes. 1 never shall forget how supremely foolish 1 felt one evening when I had been ridiculing most unmercifully a certain toppish, conceit ed pragmatical fellow about the town; all this I did in the presence of his two sisters, whom I did not know to be such, and never imagined that my friend Walter, who sat at my side, would let me run on in such a strain, without apprising me of the blunder I was committing.

1 Why you incomprehensible fellow,2 said he to me as soon as we came away, 'what the vengeance possessed you to keep on in that style, when I was treading on your toes every instant to prevail on you to stop!

Once, indeed, I came very near being discovered, and the artifice by which I escaped detection had the strangest effects. Who would believe that the ghost of a wooden leg could break off a match? or that by saving my limb, I made Mr. Beau Babbleton lose his mistress ? I will tell the whole steENTRANCE SOUTH SIDE ry; for it is seklous that a wooden leg has kicked up such a dust.

One very dark night I was walking homewards through a street where the side-walk was somewhat harrow, and the cellar entrances projected quite out to the curbetone. One of these happened to be covered with a wooden grating, and in walking over it I trod in the dark upon a defective part, and iny foot broke through. It was my wooden; alled leg, and sin endeavoring to extricate it, the armid unfortunate limb broko loose and fell into zoi α the cellar.

Here was a terribly awkward situation for. a fine gentleman to be in. There was 🍅 🖽 🖂 getting my lost leg out of its limbe in the dark, and to apply for help would: discover me. Luckily I had my walking stick, and with that made a shift to hobble to my lode. ings, where I arrived undiscovered, that he to the darkness of the night, and the hiteness of the hour.

But the difficulty was nut over. I had lost my leg, and no one could make me each another; or if it could be replaced, the thing could not be effected without delay of 10 3 many days, and the story would infallibly get wind. What should I do! I knew the house into which my stray limb had steps; but was not upon the right terms with the occupant to trust him with the secret. This was the most unlunky circumstance of ill; he was Joe Clackabout, a person with wholk ... I had been in a quarrel, and was more over, airant busy body. In short, he was no mine. to entrust with a secret of a sham leg.

Bogle's Hyperion Fluid; Or Vegetable Hair Composition.

THE subscriber has been induced to bring this article before the public, at the request of his numerous customers, among whom are physicians and citizens of the first respectability, who have adopted its use in their families, and wish others to adopted its use in their dualities, and wish others to participate in its advantages. The Hyperion is composed of vegetable ingredi-ents, the secret of compounding and blending which is known solvery to the subscriber. It is an articlo in which a cleansing and purifying wash is beautifully blended with a most delicate, silky and glossy moisture never before attained, yet free of animal grease or essential oils. It cleares the pores of the skin, causes a healthy action in the blood ressels, nerves, &c., which feed the hair, thereby preventing HALDNESS AND GREY HAIR. It entirely frees the skin from Scurf, Dandruff, and other cutaineous diseases, disposes the hair to and other cutaineous diseases, disposes the hair to curl, and changes the harshest hair into the most soft, glossy, and healthy state, also imparts to it a darker color, and the free use of it, both on the skin and hair, in a most healthy and duxuriant state until the latest period of life.

Ladies will find the Hyperion a great addition to the toilet, both on account of its delicate and agreable perfume, and the great facilities, it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the fluid; can be dressed in any required form, so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls.—When used on children's heads, it lays the foundation of a good head of hair.

Middletown, June, 25th, 1843.

Dr. Boardman, , Sir-In answer to your inquiry respecting my case, I will merely say, that I have been sick since I strained my breast and loins in May, 1836, from that time continued to grow worse, when in the full of '39, I abandoned business, and have not dono my thing since. I suppose from all I could bear nationt my case—frequently raising blood, coughing very hard and expectorating profusely, deriving no benefit from my physicians, and all medicines recommended to me, that my case was hopeless. Last winter my brother told me he had heard a good account of Dr. Banning's Lace in such chases, and was anxious that I should try it; accordingly I produced one from you, and since I began to wear it, my breathing, which was very short smillatorious, has become easy and natural snort sour according or palpitation of the heart this painfield fluttering or palpitation of the heart has suiffied; cough and expectoration greatly lessioned my limbs which were exceedingly painful lave become useful, so that I can walk comfortably. Middlelown, June 25, 1843.

Dr. Boardman,

Dear Sir—In answer to your inquiries respecting the effect of Dr. Banning's Lace in the case of my wife, I will statethat for twenty years past, she has been afflicted with a complication of complaints to which females are subject. She has tried all the physicians and all the medicines reommended for such complaints, without regard to expense, and found only temporary relief. Her most distressing complaints, palpitation of the heart, oppression and a sense of great weight at the pit of the stomach, prolapsus of the womb, &c., were believed after wearing the lace two hours, and has been constituted to inverse delive. With this she has continued to improve daily. With this view of the case I cannot use language strong enough to convey in approval of the instrument, ang. 29tf.

Miracle.

On the 4th of August, in the year 1843, a singular scripe occurred in the Royal Scientific Institution of France. The aged, white headed President, his head bare, his arms outstretched, his content with smiles. For science was triumphface ratiant with smiles, (for science was triumphant,) and his toice with gratulatory tone, delivered the following report:

"We are assumed at this singular preparation.
Where indeed will science stop! Here we have a preparation male in the form of a beautiful piece of soap, which we know by actual practice, to cure every cutantous crupmon, every disfigure-ment of, and even discolored skin! Where will its magic and singular power cease? The Negro, the Creole, the Yellow Race of the East, and the Red Man of the fur West, are alike under the influence of its extraordnary powers of clearing yel-low or discolored skin, and making it white and theautibl, and of changing the color of dark, or black, or brown skin! (Here several persons were brought forward by the President, who had used it, in proof of his assertion.)

There are probably few persons of intelligence, who, after reading the above, will doubt the qualities of JONES! TALLAN CHEMICAL SOAP, in curing Pimples, Blotchel, Salt Rheum, Scurry, Erysipelas, Sore Heads, Old Sores, Beard and Barber's Itch, Chapped and Jender Flesh, Freek-tion and disfigurement. Read these certificates:

{From the N. O. Sentinel, Oct., 1814.}
One of our subscribers, Mr. H. Leonard, informs us that he has been cured of old, scaly Salt Rheum, of eighteen years standing, on his head, ingers and hands, by a cake of an article much advertised lately—we speak of Iones' Italian Chemical Soap. He also informs us that he has tried its effects on his female slave Rose, much marked with sun spots, and he found in two weeks her skin much clearer and whiter.

James Eltham, a painter in Jersey City, was cured of carbuncles and pimples, which he was cured of carpunctes and pimpies, which he was afflicted with for many years, by part of a cake of Jones' Italian Chemical Soap.

Persons in purchasing this must always ask for Jones' Italian Chemical Soap; and perhaps, as many who have been cheated with counterfeits, will be a much discounsed to the the received. will be too much discouraged to try the genuine we say to such, try this once—you will not regret it; but always see that the name of T. Dr. Emanuel,
Drat Sir :-- You may perhaps think my statement almost incredible. My reason for fearing so is the fact of your never recommending your felly for the cure of confirmed consumption, but only in its primary or first stages. I have every reason to believe that I was in its last stage; my physician told me so; my friends told me so: an physician told me so; my friends told me so; an well did my symptoms, for they were truly sharing; and I felt fully convinced, that unless rehat was obtained, I must soon be consigned to the narrow confines of the sitent grave.
